See why your launch backfired. With evidence.

THE PROBLEM

Campaigns don't fail silently. The evidence is just scattered.

It sits in comment sections, forum threads, press coverage and your competitors' messaging. Teams rarely have time to collect it, so the post-mortem becomes a meeting of opinions — and the next campaign repeats the mistake.

COMMENTS
Thousands of reactions, no structure.

COVERAGE
Press and creators frame the story first.

COMPETITORS
The context your message lands in.

HOW IT WORKS

From scattered reactions to a fixed campaign.

Read the methodology →

01

Evidence

We collect public reactions from news, video and social comments, forums and competitor campaigns. Personal data is stripped; every item keeps its source link.

02

Diagnosis

Six hypotheses — positioning, audience, differentiation, message, creative, competition — are tested against the evidence. Weak ones are rejected in the open.

03

Relaunch

The strongest explanation becomes a prescription and a creative brief, and we produce the revised concept and a short relaunch video.

Diagnosis to creative, one flow

The fix isn't a slide of recommendations. It's a brief and a produced concept, traceable back to the evidence.
